

House of Medicine Award

Alexis Lieser, MD

This award is given to a member who has significantly improved the standing and influence of emergency medicine within the house of medicine and done so through their leadership within and among other organizations, especially other specialty societies, medical societies and state and national health care organizations.

About Dr. Lieser,

Dr. Lieser has been a very active participant in professional medical associations during her medical school training and residency, and has continued her participation since joining our group. She has been a delegate member of the AMA and CMA House of Delegates during her residency, a member of the CMA Resident and Fellow Governing Council and currently sits on the Board of Trustees for CMA. Dr. Lieser also was a resident representative on the Orange county Medical Association Board of Directors and a member of the Emergency Medicine Residents Association.

Alexis Lieser was the California ACEP Advocacy Fellow in 2010-11 and is an enthusiastic participant in the medical political process. Most importantly, Alexis has great patient interaction and leadership skills and the staff love it when she is working in the department.
